Abstract:
Title: Multilingual Data: CEF eTranslation and Multilingualism for Europe

The European Commission is very active in promoting multilingualism across the board, from outreach work in schools and universities, to cutting-edge technology in machine translation and other NLP tools. The Connecting Europe Facility, part of the digital single market, is pushing to build up Europe's capacity in all things digital. DG CNECT and DGT have partnered together to foster pooling of data across Europe and using that data to provide language services to EU Member States. What have we achieved so far, and what challenges lie ahead?
