Once you enter the room you will temporarily be placed in a waiting room to get access. This is an extra security measure.

During the event you will be transferred to break out rooms. If you happen to lose connection during these sessions: don't worry, you'll be redirected back to the right breakout room once you connect again.

Zoom will be available all through the meeting, both days, to offer the opportunity to talk to each other during the breaks.

Q&A document

Please add your questions before and during the meeting to this document.

Test your connection

We are available 5 minutes before the meeting starts to check your connection, device, headphones or microphone. Need assistance during the meeting? Contact the host through a private chat.

Etiquette

An online event has a different atmosphere than a live event. Please take the following into account:

- Mute your microphone before entering a session.
- Use your camera and please think about the following:
 - Face the light, don't sit with your back to a window.
 - Need to leave for a second? Turn your camera off.
- Check your username, use your first and last name.

Copyright when sharing data with Europeana

Sharing data with Europeana comes with the responsibility of indicating, through a rights statement, how it can be used. While this seems like a simple step, it unleashes a lot of copyright questions, but getting it right is important. As a leader in digital cultural heritage, we want to practice what we preach and keep the standard high.

During this copyright workshop, we will talk about the principles that the initiative defends when it comes to copyright and digital cultural heritage. We will walk you through some steps to focus on when choosing accurate rights statements, and will explore ways in which we can work together to bring these ideas into practice.

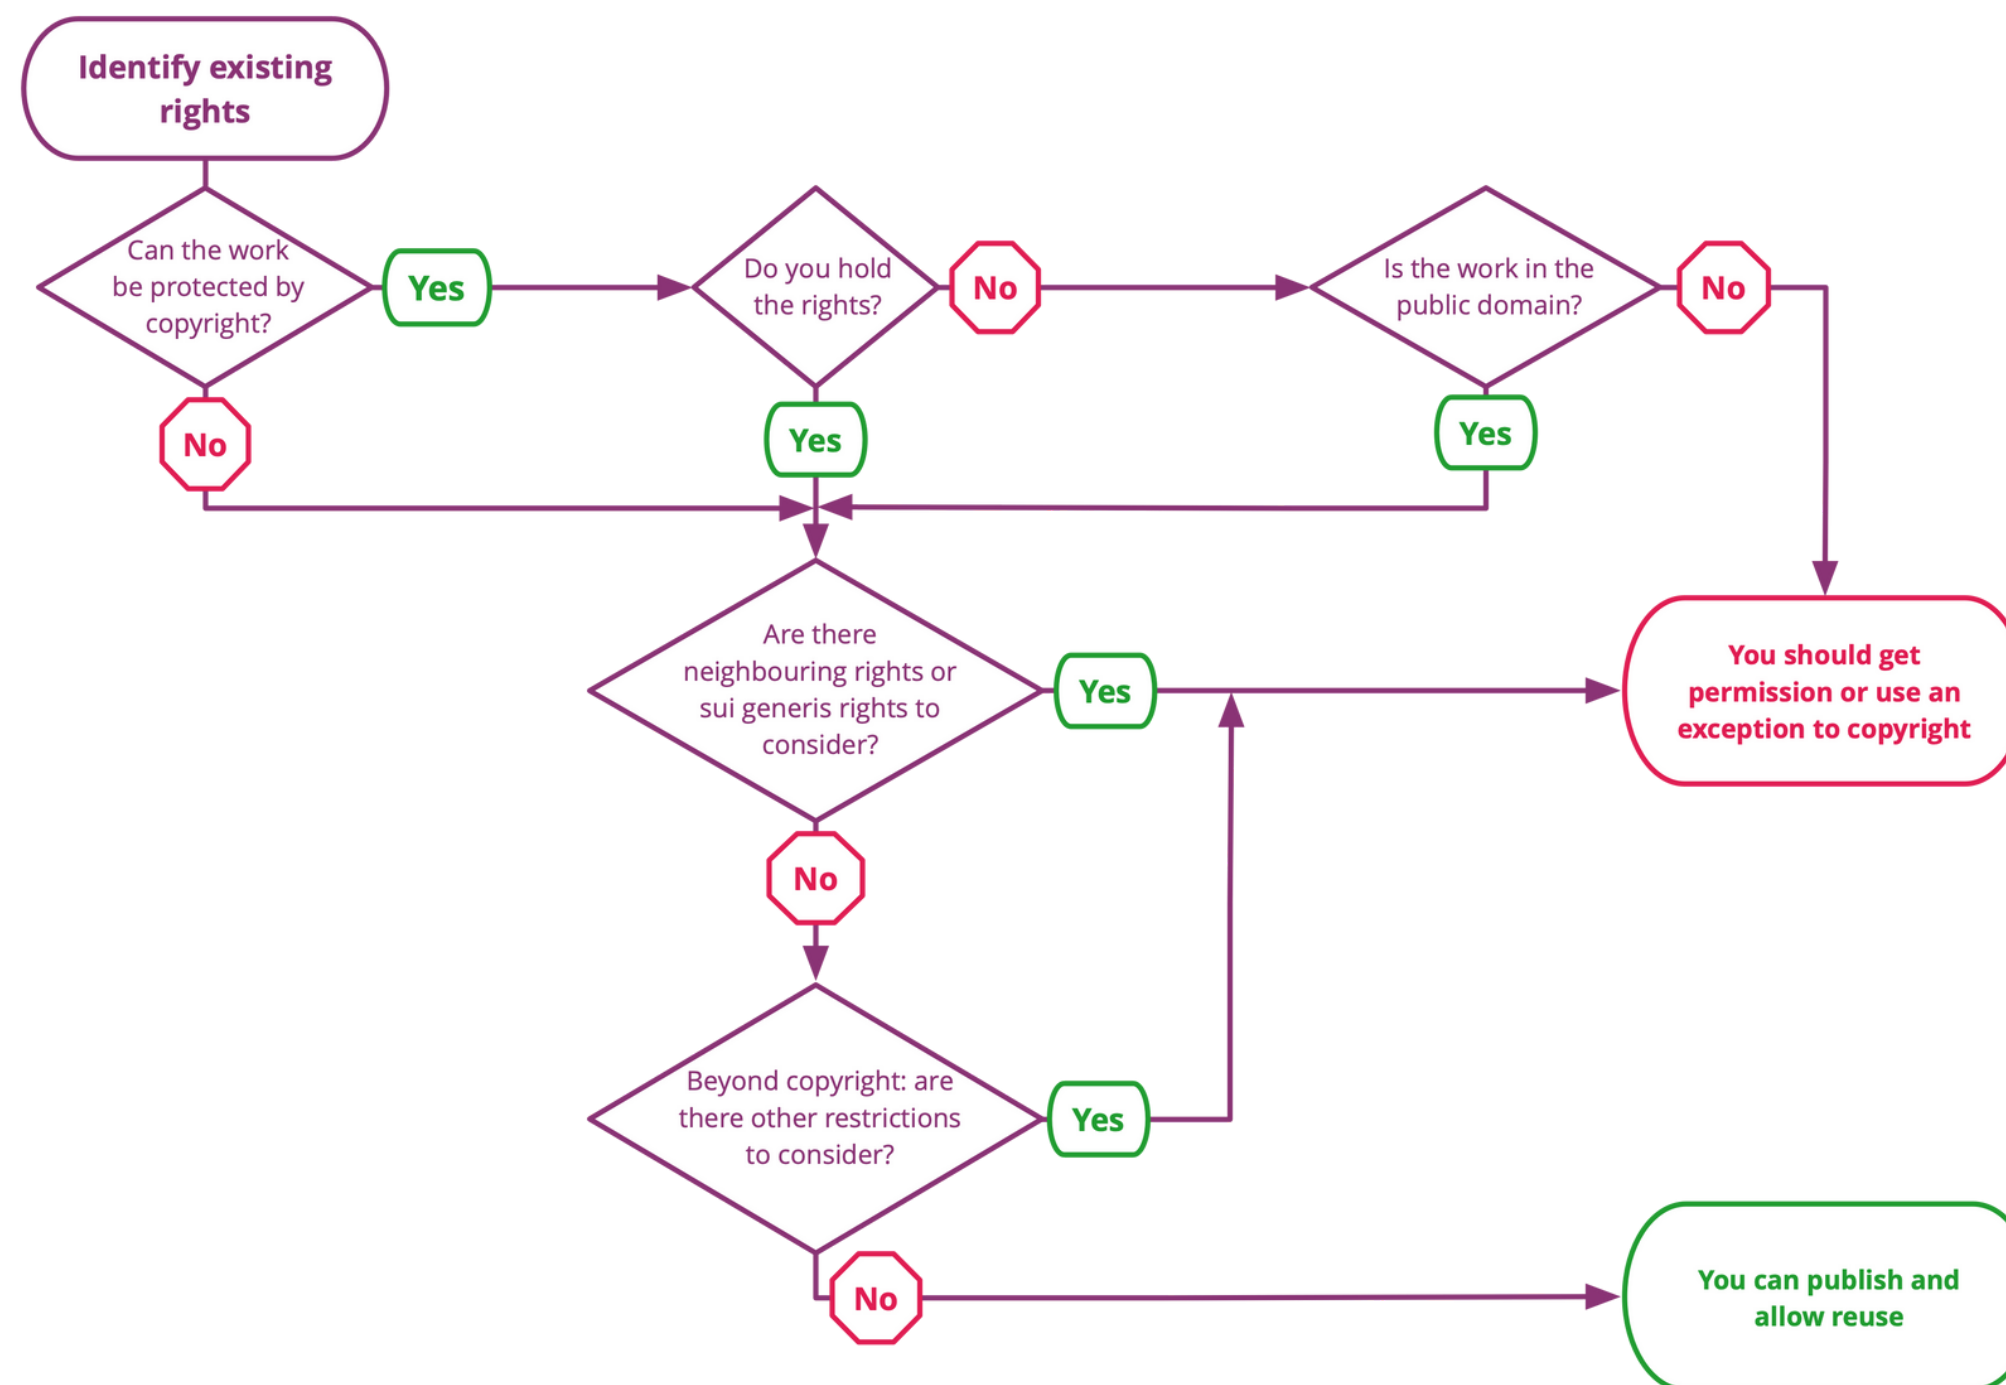

Did you know that? The research conducted by Kennisland in 2019 estimated that 19.1% of Europeana collection items were inaccurately labelled.
