Annual General Meeting 2016 (AGM)

Europeana Network Association General Assembly, Europeana Business Plan 2016-2017, Innovating the Aggregation Landscape, Impact and Sustainability, and EuropeanaTech and R&D are the 5 tracks structuring the AGM programme.

Our opening keynote is going to be Dan Cohen, from DPLA, Lora Aroyo, from the Vrije Universiteit in Amsterdam, and Markus Krötzsch, from the Technical University in Dresden, will complement the first day of the AGM. On day two, Joan Cobb, from the Getty Research Institute, will kick-start the day followed by Shawn Averkamp, from New York Public Library Labs, followed by Effie Kapsalis from the Smithsonian Institute Archives. Mia Ridge, from the British Library, will be our closing keynote speaker.
Early Bird registration for the AGM opened at the end of May, and a communications campaign with the support from the Councillors allowed us to reach close to 190 registrants at the end of October. The championing of the AGM Working Group has been instrumental:

Europeana Vision and Association Mission

At the Vienna meeting, the Members Council discussed the role of the Association within the wider Europeana ecosystem, as well as interaction within the Association, and its collaboration with Europeana Foundation. A Working Group was set up to further evaluate the role of the Association in the light of current and future developments, to work on updating the Association’s Mission Statement, and to contribute ideas for a revised general Europeana Vision Statement. The group is working in conjunction with the Foundation’s Strategy Team and the following phases will be discussed with all Councillors at the next physical meeting in Riga.

Governance

The Voting/Elections Working Group proposed amendments to the Statutes that are submitted to the General Assembly for approval on November 8 (See Paper 2 and Paper 3 above).

Network Engagement

There is currently one active Task Force: Audiovisual Media in Europeana (MC representative: Johan Oomen); new Task Forces are currently being set in motion and a call towards the network was issued in October 2016.

Six Working Groups are currently tackling issues related to governance, the AGM, Data Quality, Copyright, Europeana Pro, and the #AllezCulture campaign. The Members Council Activity Plan outlines the activities and role of the Members Council.
